You can continue using the 32bit version on 64bit operating systems or use the 64bit version of SAP GUI for Windows 8.00 on such operating systems. See SAP Note 3218166 for further information.	SAP GUI for Windows requires a browser control for displaying web pages and web-based applications inside SAP GUI's HTML Control. Two alternative browser controls can be used: - Microsoft Internet Explorer (default setting in SAP GUI for Windows 7.70) - Edge based on Chromium (default setting as of SAP GUI for Windows 8.00) The Browser Control based on Edge requires the Microsoft WebView2 Control which is present on most operating systems and can be separately obtained from Microsoft. Furthermore, using SAP GUI for Windows "inplace" in a web browser window in SAP Portal ("SSD") is technically only possible in Microsoft Internet Explorer and Microsoft Edge when using the Enterprise Mode since this is the only web browser supporting the embedding of ActiveX objects.
